Trees instead of Cards for Christmas

Climate change dominated the public debate in 2019 and is one of the most important issues of our time. Sustainability and care in dealing with nature are becoming increasingly important. Nevertheless, it is often difficult to act accordingly in everyday life. As a law firm, we are always thinking about the contribution we can make. So we did for Christmas.

Every year we receive numerous Christmas cards, which we are always thankful for. So far, we have always been sending Christmas cards to clients, colleagues and business partners.

This year we decided not to send any cards for Christmas. Instead, we are using that budget otherwise to donate trees. So instead of sending Christmas cards, we donated 1.000 trees via "Plant for the Planet".
