

Amazon consulting

Do you distribute goods via Amazon and require legal support in designing your offerings and legal text such as General Terms of Business, notice of cancellation, and legal disclaimer? Are you unsure as to what information you must provide to your customers at Amazon or how the individual items for sale must be designed? You have questions regarding the use of existing product descriptions and images with a certain ASIN or regarding the use of your own trademarks in article descriptions?

What we offer

We can advise you in all questions regarding the offering and selling of goods on Amazon, particularly with respect to the legal framework conditions, the design of your Amazon shop and the product lines, the industry-specific requirements, the variety of existing information requirements, and the use of existing product descriptions next to images. Furthermore, we can design and review the necessary legal text and undertake the necessary changes and amendments. In the event that you have goods being sold cross-border, we can check the legal requirements as well as the legal regulations to be adhered to internationally, and advise you regarding any adaptations to what you offer.
