

Tracking music copyright violations

Are you a composer, musician, singer, or other type of owner of rights to musical works and have you discovered unauthorized use of your music? Is an unauthorized third party using your songs and possibly representing themselves as the composer of your music? As the author/originator, you have the right, in addition to the naming right, to exclude unauthorized parties from using your work and to demand appropriate licensing compensation from the violating party.

What we offer

We will examine the legal situation for you if an unauthorized third party is using your music without asking or is using it in a non-agreed-upon manner. If there are copyright infringements, we will document them and develop a strategy for you in order to stop the violations as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Normally, enforcement is carried out initially through a warning notice in which the infringing party is required to provide a cease-and-desist declaration, information, compensatory damages, elimination of the legal infringement, and reimbursement of the attorney's fees.

If the recipient of the warning notice fails to give sufficient declaration to cease and desist in response to the warning notice or if said person fails to fulfill the other claims, then we will initiate the necessary steps for court proceedings. Claims in this case can be enforced in the form of a temporary injunction or a complaint.

The tracking of your copyrights and the representation in official warnings, temporary injunctions, and principal proceedings throughout Germany are part of the special strength of our law practice due to the many years of practical experience and the technical expertise of the attorneys and specialized lawyers.
